Taxation For Survival

From time to time in recent months charges of "huge" profits made on war contracts have come from Washington. Report after report has paraded through the nation's headlines. A few extreme cases were seized upon, and many people began to believe that these extremes were normal.

As a matter of fact they're not. The Vinson committee itself estimated that a 7 per cent profit is "fair and just," and found that upon all government contracts profits have averaged 6.5 per cent.

Industry is not holding out for excessive profits. If anyone doubts that, the recent action of the National Association of Manufacturers should set him right. For the NAM, which represents 80 per cent of the nation's war production manufacturers, is urging Congress to adopt a program of taxation "to the limit"—leaving only enough for survival—in order to guarantee victory, to eliminate profiteering and to insure the future solvency of our government. According to this program, "all corporations and individuals with income should be taxed to the maximum of their ability to pay for the terrific burden of this war."

In this emergency every group in the country must cooperate to the fullest extent if America is going to lick the Axis in the shortest possible time. Such an appeal for a tax program indicates how completely industry realizes this. Nothing else matters but victory. But to achieve it we've all got to work together—pay and work and sacrifice as we never have before. No matter what the cost, however, it's cheaper than

Home Fires

Since America was bombed into the war on December 7 we've seen some rough going for our side. We've had to take bad news as best we could, and it hasn't been easy. Hunched over our papers, bending close to our radios, we've all passed through some dismal moments of anger and despair.

Before this war is ended we'll pass through many more. Even though our factories are speeding up their production of war materials we won't have enough to take the offensive on a big scale for many long month to come. We're going to have to work harder than we ever have before. We're going to have to face ugly facts with courage, shut our eyes and ears to defeat, dig in and do our jobs better than ever. That's the only way we can win.

Our war industries are trying in many ways to deliver the goods as fast as possible. In addition to all their other jobs they're trying to keep up the morale of their employees, for during the last war, when morale sagged, production also dropped. To keep that from happening this time, some plants are serving between-meals "snacks" to offset fatigue caused by longer hours. Others are supplying free home-town newspapers to counteract homesickness in workers who are away from home. Pep rallies, special recognition for extra-hard-working employees—they're trying not to overlook a single thing that will increase production.

Keeping up morale is a job that all of us can do, however. It's bound to be tough, giving up many of our easy comforts, changing our lives under the impact of war. But we can do it cheerfully, and we must. For back here behind the lines we've got to keep those "home fires burning." We've got to accept what we must and keep going. Indeed, that's the very least we can do.

Books And Pamphlets

Concerning Defense Courses At Library

An official notice has been received at the Public Library that library work comes directly under war work and that the rules of operation must comply in every way. In carrying out these rules, a "War Information Center" has been set up in which numerous books and pamphlets concerning defense courses may be found, as well as technical books and information concerning combat zones.

A reading table has been established with stories of soldiers' camp life and is supplied with magazines and pamphlets that bear directly or the war.

The library recently loaned 46 books to WPA for Army base

Books that have been added to the shelves are:

"Married Adventure" by Goss Palmer; "Alfred J. DuPont," by Marius James; Hitler's Counterfeiter" by Carl Robert; "The Heritage of Hatchet Id" by Bruce Tarkington; "For Us Living" by Bruce Laramore; "Forever Free" by Mark Twain; "The Last Full Measure" by Horace Morrow; "The White Cliffs" by Alice Duer Miller.

Library hours are: Tuesday,

Wednesday and Thursday 9:00 to 12:00 noon and 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Friday 9:00 to 12:00 noon and 3:00 to 8:00 p.m.

12:00 noon and 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Both the boys platforms sounds about the same as far as I'm able to find this early spring. The game both prefer a conservative and simple administration if elected, as plain as most road users are fed up on for we have gotten to the stage of needing roads built and repaired so bad until we wouldn't mind having a few of the officials left a few if it would help to get a little patching material night and then.

You have always heard about a political race being as good as the bag well our representative Herbert Beck is as good as the sack he's fortunate enough to hold, an office that seems to care enough about to give him any trouble at this time, for he doesn't happen to have an opponent, so he will be practically on a vacation when the other candidates are busy shaking hands, holding the babies and helping the voters check up their old tires that have blown away since the last election.

There has been less opposition in our representative races since Governor Holland's time and don't mind in the election of either of our two choices, so the only thing I know to do not to show partiality towards one, and not the other, is to try and get both of the boys elected to the same office, for I would hate to see either of the two get disappointed.

dan and endeavor to startle the people of Belle Glade and surrounding communities by driving through congested traffic with the aid of his eyes.

At the appointed time Kirma will permit his eyes to be bandaged and blindfolded, after first allowing his spectators to examine the light proof covering, which will cover his eyes. He will then be led to the new Ford car where he will rest a few moments before starting his blindfold drive starting his perilous ride.

According to those who are familiar with this occult, the few moments of silence and rest just prior to his start are necessary to focus his mind's eye and cause his astral mind to tune up his subconscious, for it is claimed that his direction is accomplished by means of a very highly developed concentration.

Kirma will start his trip from the Everglades Theatre directly blindfolded, in a new 1942 Ford. This thrilling and spectacular event will start promptly at 4:30 on next Monday morning, a number of stops will be made on his hazardous tour, when he will leave his car and enter the establishments of the different merchants. On the list of stops are: Betzner's Hardware Store, Darden's Department Store, Kaha Department Store, Cabin Cleaners and the Belle Glade Bottling Co.

Kirma's advance representatives point out that immediately upon undergoing his mental change, he will speak to no one and make no show of his eyes to him, lest it should cause him to break the visible thread of thought that connects him with the vibrations necessary to the success of his experiment.

Kirma To Perform Hypnotic Power In Kahn's Window

Will Cast Magnetic Spell On Woman Thursday at 12:00 Noon

Kirma will perform a startling demonstration of his hypnotic powers when he drives a young lady, through the powers of suggestion, into a seven hour trance in the window of Kahn's Department Store, Thursday, April 3, at 12:00 noon.

He will take up his microphone and speak a few words of suggestion in English and utter cryptic sounds in an unknown tongue and the lady will be seen to swoon under his magnetic spell. He will then cast her into rigidity and sound sleep.

The management of the Everglades Theatre is responsible for bringing this master mystic to Belle Glade and state that Kirma, unlike most so called hypnotists, induces the state of sleep in his subjects without the usual startling and painful effect. He cultivated his power of voice vibration, coupled with his powerful concentration, to the extent that even the most skeptical can be impelled to his will.

Kirma will allow his subject to remain in a cataleptic state until 1:00 p. m., when he will be removed from Kahn's window and brought to the Theatre.

At Kirma's regular performance at 9:00 p. m., on the stage, in full view of the audience he will wake his subject.

SPECIAL LADIES MATINEE AT THE THEATRE FRIDAY

In announcing the extraordinary engagement of the great Kirma, managing director of the Everglades Theatre, the management states that Kirma will give a special ladies matinee at the Theatre, Friday, April 3, at 3:00 p. m. in order to permit the ladies to ask questions which are too delicate nature and which they would not want to ask while they were in a mixed audience.

No men will be admitted to this special matinee, and all male employees of the theatre will leave the house during the time Kirma is on the stage.

No men will be admitted for this matinee and the regular Friday prices of admission will be charged.

To the first ten ladies purchasing tickets in the office for this special matinee Kirma will grant a free ticket.

This engagement of Kirma was made possible due to his being in Florida on a vacation at this time. During his vacation period, and just before his trek North to his regular bookings, he is playing a limited number of engagements.

Bette Davis Stars In "Little Foxes"

The entertainment bill of fare at the Everglades Theatre this week is head-lined with Kirma, on the stage each night, mystifying his audience with his uncanny ability in the field of psychic phenomena.

Kirma opens Sunday night on the stage and on the screen those two screw balls, Abbott and Costello, with Martha Raye, Carol Bruce and an all star cast in "Keep Em Honest." It is a spectacular show with power-jive tunes, tons of fun and gallops of glee as this panic pair hit new sky high heights in hilarity.

On Tuesday comes Bette Davis, a portrait of a lady who has brand new show, "The Little Foxes." The picture has been hailed by critics all over the land as the best Bette has been seen in to date. It is the story of a woman who feared no one, but who knew no love. She is the aristocrat of society. A role that brings you the real Bette Davis at her greatest.

Wednesday and Thursday usher in the weekly double feature program opening with a mystery pix that will be real thrillers, "The Thin Man," and "Sealed Lips." On the same program will be seen "Blue, White and Perfect." Here is a show that will please everyone, as it has story, comedy and an all star cast.

On Friday Bette comes to town in her latest slicker and sly flicker, "Blonde Goes to College." Anyone can, by using their imagination, get a pretty good idea of what really happens when Bette matches her comedy with the dignity of college professors. "Front Page" is back for the same night and his real honest pix that will give everyone a lift and make you glad you came.

On Saturday will bring another episode in that hair raising serial, "Riders of Death Valley," the million dollar production declared by critics to be the greatest serial ever produced in Hollywood. The Western feature on this program is "Medico of Painted Springs." Its a story of the old and untamed West with a thrill a minute to please all lovers of the West.

Sat night at the owl show Kirma will conduct his Spook Show, designed to scare the wits out of everyone attending and to clear up a lot of argument about this spirit business, for Kirma exposes the racket right before your eyes.

SPORTS

The Belle Glade Rams began

training Wednesday, March 17. They engaged in limbering up exercises and batting practice. The boys showed a lot of spirit and prospects of a good team. We boys want and expect the support of the townpeople to help us in our first year of base ball.

Quite a few boys are reporting but more interest should be stirred up in order to have a really good team.

So far we have games scheduled for two teams, Palahke and Lake Worth.

JUNIOR CLASS NEWS Mrs. Camp, the junior class home room teacher, has given us juniors something new to think about—phonetics. We weren't interested at first, but I think that we have taken more of an interest now that we have gone deeper into it.

We started off by learning which symbols stood for different sounds. Then we transcribed the Lord's prayer in phonetics, which was followed by the Forty-sixth Psalm and a paragraph from our literature book.

Now that we have started again in our English workbooks we transcribe as many sentences as we have time for, after we have finished our daily lessons.

Mrs. Camp is always full of new ideas in order to make our English class more interesting.

She thought of the idea of having a member of the junior class act as chairman each day.

Only boys have presided so far, but I think that most of us like the idea, fine. It gives us a chance to adjust ourselves and to get rid of stage fright.

EIGHTH GRADE NEWS

The Eighth Grade is going on a beach party April 25, at the Lake Worth casino. Sue Cherry is going to furnish the truck.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hooker had a birthday party at her home Friday night. She invited Richard, Howard, Jewel Bass, Sonny Smith, Geo. Wedgeworth, Joyce Borchardt, Edith Bregger, Dolores Frier, Betty Roberts, Sue Cherry, Dorothy Betzner. She served cake and ice cream and a good time was enjoyed by all.

BONDS AND STAMPS

We are proud to announce that during the sale of stamps and bonds ending March 16, the Belle Glade schools sold more than $30,000 worth of stamps and bonds. The amount of stamps sold was $702.05. The amount of bonds was $2,425.00. The total amount was $3,127.00.

CONTEST

As we all know the Belle Glade Herald is sponsoring a contest in which the prizes are to be Defense Bonds and Stamps. This will give many of us a chance to share in our country's need. Mr. Howington who is now editing the Herald did a full page article last week to the announcement of the contest. The contest has started in earnest in the school. Few subscriptions have been reported yet, but we all appreciate the opportunity and are doing our part.

For each subscription sold a prize of fifty cents in Defense Stamps will be given. Also fifty cents of each years subscription will be placed in a pool. At the end of the contest, the money in the pool will be divided 50-50. The person who wins the contest will receive 50 per cent of the money in the pool. Second place will receive 20 per cent and third place 20 per cent.

The three sections are: (1) First through the sixth grades; (2) Seventh through the eleventh grades; and (3) all the South Bay school.

The person in each of the three sections who sells the most subscriptions will receive a $25 Defense Bond.

I know that we all would like to win this contest—so let's get to work and do our best.

TENTH GRADE NEWS

Here's a plow to all High School students who like to dance because there must be more who enjoy dancing than those who attended the D. F. A.

dance Friday night and all the previous dances we've had this year. The D. F. A. boys were nice enough to give a dance for the High School students and our appreciation was shown by hardly any attendance.

Everyone clamours for a dance, then when we have one they don't come. Did you say the dances are always "flops"? Well, if you help to make them flops by not attending, or if you do attend by not dancing. If you can't dance get someone to teach you now. You can at least try.

The next time we have a dance, change your attitude, don't only come yourself, but get everyone else to come. Let's try to revive the old spirit we had in our first school dances last year.

The ninth grade students are going to have a dance Friday night in the old school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The admission will be 15 cents for boys and 10 cents for girls. Be different, everybody come. There'll even be refreshments for a change.

PAN AMERICAN CLUB

The regular monthly meeting of the Pan American Club was held in the auditorium of the Belle Glade High School on the night of March 19.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Elizabeth Cunningham. As there was no old business, the new business was brought forth at once. The constitution of the Pan American Club of Belle Glade was read by Elizabeth Cunningham. The constitution was approved unanimously. A notice was read about a state Pan American Conference to be held in Miami, Florida, in April. The following committees were appointed: Publicity committee, Jimmy McEaddy; Scrapbook committee, Ruth McFuddy; and Refreshments committee, Emily Bregger and Ruth Burwick.

Those attending were Rose Mary Carlton, Mabel Fletcher, Melie Elizabeth and W. L. Cunningham, Eugenia Hatcher. Eugene was named chairman of this committee; Entertainment committee, Dorothy Lee and Jimmy McEaddy; Scrapbook committee, Ruth McFuddy; and Refreshments committee, Emily Bregger and Ruth Burwick.

What's the matter with Kenneth? Is he a "woman hater" or just bashful?

Fort Myers, up the Caloosahatchee River, the waterway has a minimum of 12 feet at all times.

From Fort Myers to Port Charlotte the channel has a least depth of seven feet.

Passing out of the St. Lucie Canal barges have to negotiate one lock with a fall of 14 feet.

At Stuart, 40 miles north of Palm Beach, the canal joins the Federally maintained Intracoastal Waterway.

Through the cross-Florida waterway, built by the U. S. Government, aided by the Okeechobee Flood Control District barges up to 200 feet in length and 45 feet in width can pass without difficulty. Minimum clearance at points in the cross-Florida system is 50 feet but usually the clearances are from 60 to 200 feet.

In the St. Lucie Canal a new lock has been installed and is in operation. Time for passage through this lock is actually 15 minutes and the available dimensions of the lock are: Length, 250 feet; width, 50 feet; minimum depth over lock sills, 11 feet. Use of the new lock has increased the capacity of the St. Lucie Canal and lessened the time of passage.

Waterway Is Ready For Any Traffic

From a physical standpoint the Intracoastal Waterway is completed and ready for any use that may be made of it. Long used by yachts and pleasure craft as a safe means of transit from Delaware Bay to Florida points, the freight traffic has been neglected on a through basis.

Local traffic mainly between Florida points, and intrastate traffic in other states, has, however, gained considerable currency.

A total of 45,511 tons of freight moved on the waterway, according to a report filed by the Florida inland navigation district, in urging a deeper channel which would permit larger barges, greater ease of navigation and increased operation efficiency and speed.

Now the board insists, the waterway offers a "military covered route" capable of transporting great volume of commercial and defensive supplies free from the wartime hazards parallel to the most used offshore shipping route of the United States, all the way to Trenton, N. J.

Eliminate For Convoying Carries

The protection required by coastal areas in time of war costs vast sums of money and utilizes much naval equipment and personnel for convoy purposes, thereby reducing the effective combat strength of this arm of our protective service.

The improved waterway will make barge traffic between all American ports on the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic coast, inasmuch as barges drawing 12 feet of water are capable of traversing the open waters of the gulf in ordinary weather. Many of the present trans-Atlantic and Pacific-Atlantic service could transfer their cargoes to and from barges and thus avoid the necessity for continuing North of South in the open Atlantic.

Use of the intracoastal waterway would eliminate the necessity of a convoy service and would permit a greater concentration on patrol duties.

Obviously the intracoastal waterway is much less subject to sabotage or injury by enemy attack than any other existing type of waterway.

There are no locks to be destroyed; it is not possible to drain off waters; the way cannot be blocked for any great length of time (if at all) by sinking barges or placing obstructions in the channel, and such a way that the evidence finally, the waterway permits of the defendant's guilt or innocence is evenly balanced and the decision will have to be based on the jury's own feeling toward the case, upon the juror's own characteristics. The two parties operating the trial are probably antagonists, will be members of the audience and the men and women who will serve on the jury. Either decision will bring the protests of the opposite side; the case will be a challenge bound to arouse strong interest and emotion. The underlying conflict is the eternal conflict of two definite types of humanity. It is thus really the audience who is put on trial.

MURDER TRIAL PLAY SET FOR TONIGHT

Did Karen Andre commit a murder or not? That is the question to be answered by the jury Friday night, March 27, at the Palmetto High School Auditorium. The trial begins at 8:45 sharp. The question will be answered at about 10:45 the same evening by the jury.

Audiences generally leave the theatre after a performance of "The Night of January 16th" debating the correctness of the verdict. The play is built in
